The prisoners in the Jonesboro jail made an attempt to escape last Friday night. The hinges on the large cell door were sawed off and a hole made in the wall and one man, Swinney, a horse thief, made his escape; but in getting down the wall made a noise that disturbed the jailer's wife, who was sleeping in a room on the first floor, and the other birds were put in another cell before they had a chance to fly.

Hart, Armbrust & Co. will give you a ticket for a handsome picture worth $10 with every $1 worth of goods you buy from now until December 1.

Johnson City Choral.

The Johnson City Choral composed of about twenty five mixed voices at present, held their regular weekly meeting last Monday night at the Presbyterian church. The society has secured the services of Prof. Le Claire as director and has taken up the study of a high order of music, with the view to giving one or several entertainments during the winter.

The list of members may be found at Lyle, Hickey & Co.'s shoe store, and the gentlemen are earnestly requested to examine it and see that all the ladies have company for every meeting. The absence of even a part of the female voices is a serious department, and it is hoped that the male members will not merit the reflection of having contributed to it.

In this connection the secretary begs to state that not all the initiation fees have yet been paid in. As money has been paid in. As money has been advanced to meet what expenses have already been incurred, prompt settlement is requested. The next meeting will be held at the Presbyterian church Monday evening Nov. 19, at 7:30 sharp. Everybody turn out.

A HUGE JOKE.

Last Saturday evening just after dark C. C. Taylor came to Johnson City with the information that Alf Taylor was being assassinated at Bristol that night. He had been told of the scheme by a man named Michaels, who had walked from the neighborhood of Mountain City to put Taylor's friends on their guard. Michaels was in a barn and overheard two men plotting with a third party to kill Alf Taylor at Bristol or Johnson City. Fifty dollars was paid in advance, and as soon as Taylor was killed four hundred and fifty more would be given.

A number of Alf's friends went to Bristol Saturday night to tell him and act as body guard, but for some reason no violence was attempted.

Attempted Suicide.

Col. John M. Fleming, the well-known lawyer and journalist, a frequent contributor to the Sentinel, attempted to take his own life in room No. 37 at the Lamar House, about 5 o'clock last evening.

The weapon used was a common pocket knife, the blade being about three inches long. He attempted to reach the heart, but failing in this, endeavored to sever the jugular vein. Neither of wounds were fatal, and shortly after the second attempt he was discovered and the knife taken from him. Physicians were summoned and the injuries ascertained not dangerous. He will recover unless something unforeseen occurs.

A Direct Cut.

Bristol News.] A certain Bristol girl while passing through Johnson City a day or two ago remarked to her companion, "Here is Johnson's, but where is the city?"

The D. & E. T. Railroad.

Mr. T. W. M. Draper, vice-President and General Manager of the Danville and East Tennessee railroad, and Mr. Buchanan, attorney, were in the city yesterday. They were here on business and THE COMET will have more to say of their visit next week.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Friday evening Miss Eva Wilson gave a Halloween party. The invitations said seven o'clock, so at that hour the party assembled. The young people spent the evening with the games and customs suitable to the keeping of Halloween. After a little dancing, all shook hands with Miss Eva Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and went home. The weather was stormy, as many of our winter evenings will be, but the rattling wheels of the carriages seemed to pay but little attention to this fact. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Crandall, Misses Mary Wilder, Sallie Faw, Annie Maher, Martha Wilder, Fannie Berkley, Mattie Chandler, Sallie Chandler, Jennie Crumley, Nettie Shortridge, Minnie Kirkpatrick and Miss Ellis, of Knoxville. Messrs. J. F. Crumley, H. W. Lyle, J. D. Faucette, Paul Shortridge, W. W. Faw, R. S. Boyd, Dr. Press, Chas. Odum, Walter Martin, F. H. Montgomery, W. S. Dickenson, Jo P. Summers and E. D. Duncan.

SOCIETY NOTES.

E. D. DUNCAN, EDITOR.

Miss Hattie Vance returned to Bristol Tuesday.

Mrs. Jo Caldwell is visiting home folks in Bristol.

Miss Blanch Keebler left for Bristol Saturday.

Miss Cora Stratton is visiting Mrs. F. A. Stratton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hunter have returned to the city.

R. S. Boyd and E. D. Duncan spent Sunday away from Johnson City.

Miss Ruth Aby, of Mississippi, is visiting Mrs. E. G. Lyle, on Mt. Zion.

Mrs. Wilson and daughter, Miss Laura have returned from North Carolina.

Miss Ellis, of Knoxville, spent a few days with Miss Eva Wilson at Three Oaks.

Mrs. A. J. Patterson spent a few days in Johnson City the first of the week.

Dr. Taylor has returned from the Y. M. C. A. convention at Columbia. He reports good work by the convention.

Miss Jessie Kirkpatrick and Miss Stewart, Jonesboro spent Saturday in Johnson City with Miss Minnie Kirkpatrick.

Cards are out for a wedding at Mr. J. E. Crandall's. The cards were printed on paper grained to represent veneer, and from a very pretty souvenir by which to remember the occasion.

The church entertainment and oyster supper at Mr. Well's home Tuesday evening of last week was a social and financial success. The oysters were good, the table was remarkably pretty, and they made forty dollars for the church. We hope they will have more of these evenings in the near future.

You are invited to attend a musical given by the young men in the Opera House Friday evening, Nov. 7, 1890. This is the style of the invitations to a musical entertainment which our young men propose to have in Jobe's Opera House Friday evening. Prof. McMillian's orchestra of Bristol has been secured, and the music will be very fine.

A number of young couples have started life together in Johnson City during the past two months. Fifty years ago, last Wednesday, Samuel Miller and his blushing bride started their lives together on the stormy waves of life, and life in those days meant more hardships and more pluck than it means now, for the land is now made.

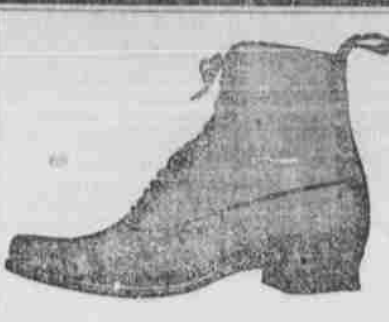

Since then in peace and trouble, Full many a year has rolled And they have counted double The years that then they told.

Sixty or seventy friends and relatives assembled Wednesday to offer congratulations. At noon they sat down before a grand old-fashion dinner, suggestive of the days when things were real. Below is a list of the tokens of friendship:

Gold watch from children to Father. One pair spectacles to each. Breast pin from Julia and Sue to Mother. Ring from Alice to Mother. One pair cuff buttons from Mrs. P. Q. Miller to Mrs. Miller. One pair cuff buttons from Mrs. E. S. Miller to Mother. One pair cuff and collar buttons to Father. One pair gold lined salt cellars from K. C. Atkins to Mr. Miller. One pair gold lined salt cellars from Mrs. Range. One pair gold lined salt cellars Mrs. Rankin. Five dollars in gold from J. R. Miller to Mother. Two dollars from C. W. and Bessie Car to each. Two and a half in gold W. P. Miller to Mother. One in silver W. P. Ponder. One pair napkin rings W. S. Mitchell. Comb and brush E. S. Miller, Sr. Mrs. C. K. Lide a majolical gold mounted sugar bowl and cream pitcher. Pair cuff buttons to S. H. Miller by J. S. Miller. Gold headed umbrella Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hart. Gold headed umbrella Mrs. E. S. Miller. Nice linen handkerchief J. S. Miller. Gold thimble P. Q. Miller to Mother. Two silk plush corks by Mrs. T. E. Matson $30.00. Gold collar button I. N. Becker to S. H. Miller. Set of gold buttons by W. O. Thomas.
